Clark to Run for Lt. Governor

TEXARKANA (AP) — Jack V. Clark of Texarkana, a former state senator, says he may become a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor.

"I have received several calls from friends wanting me to run," Clark said Saturday. "I'm going to study the situation and put out some feelers."

Clark, 53, served four years in the Arkansas House and eight years in the Senate and was a member of the Legislative Council.

He said he had considered running for lieutenant governor eight years ago but did not want to oppose Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon.

Gordon announced last week that he would not seek an 11th term in office.

China Happy About U.S. Protests

TOKYO (AP) — Red China gave encouragement today to demonstrations in the United States against the Viet Nam war, saying the protests were only "prelude to still bigger movements of the (American) people."

The Chinese staged their own rally in Peking Sunday to support "the American people's struggle against U.S. imperialist aggression in Viet Nam."

The official New China News Agency said 16,000 persons, including representatives of more than 40 countries, attended.

An article in the Peking People's Daily on the weekend protest marches in the United States linked them with the recent renewal of Negro rioting in the Watts area of Los Angeles.

The official party newspaper described these events as "signs of a far-reaching change taking place in the United States."

"The American people's new awakening and the recent developments in their struggle show that the newborn America is marching forward," the article said.

These words echoed the line of the principal speaker at the Peking rally, Liao Cheng-chih, vice chairman of the China Peace Committee. Peking radio quoted him as saying that the Chinese admire and firmly support the antiwar movement in the United States.

"This once again demonstrates that on the Viet Nam question the American people stand on the side of the Vietnamese people and not on the side of the U.S. government," Liao said.

Plane Crash Is Fatal to Iowan

CABOT, Ark. (AP)—Charles Arthur Oppedahl, 35, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa was killed and two men injured Sunday night when their light plane crashed into Lake Pickthorne south of here, authorities said.

The injured men were identified as Charles W. Morgan, 33, of Marion, Iowa and W. R. Fuller, 47, of Cedar Rapids, believed to be the pilot of the plane.

Norman Roberts of the North Little Rock Memorial Hospital, said Fuller was in serious condition with multiple fractures of the legs and lacerations. He said Morgan had lacerations and a fractured ankle.

Roberts said the three worked in the Central Arkansas area for a radio firm.

The cause of the crash was not determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Cox
Miss Jeanie Saunders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ray Saunders of Hope, became the bride of Buddy Cox, son of Mrs. Irene Cox of Fulton on Thursday, March 17.

The double-ring ceremony was performed in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Larry Gaines with the Rev. Gaines officiating. After a short honeymoon, the couple will be at home at Port Polk, Louisiana where the groom is stationed with the U. S. Army.

Battle Is on About That Cheese

LONDON (AP) — "It is sad to report," said the letter to the Times of London, "that yet another controversy is poisoning the atmosphere in which men of good will once believed they could live happily together."

The controversy? It's a fight about cheese — Stilton cheese. On one side are the Stilton cutters — those who would use a knife to slice this strong-tasting cheese.

In the opposite corner are the Stilton scoopers — those who would scoop out the cheese with a large spoon.

The controversy flares not only in the august pages of the Times. The British Broadcasting Co. also is interviewing experts on both sides of the cheese.

The cutters' argument is summed up in an article in the trade magazine, Caterer and Hotel Keeper. It advocates cutting Stilton to avoid waste.

The scoopers, on the other hand, contend that only by scooping can the flavor of Stilton be retained.

Roy MacGregor-Hastie of London, in a letter to the Times, advocated a bit of cutting but clearly favored scooping.

"Farm house Stilton, s.e., should be cored at 18 months, moistened with port in the core, topped, and then scooped," he wrote the editor.

"Only in this way does the scent and flavor come through."

Philip Harben, a culinary expert who gives cooking lessons on British television, seemed to favor cutting Stilton. He objected violently to adding port wine.

He wrote the Times: "In those parts of Leicestershire and Derbyshire where most Stilton is made, the practice of scooping is abhorred, for it rapidly puts the fine cheese into bad condition. Whereas slicing ensures that it remains bland and creamy instead of rank and dry from over-exposure to the air."

Mrs. Gandhi to Get the Red Carpet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson gives India's peace-seeking lady prime minister a red carpet welcome to Washington today.

A 21-gun salute was to sound as the President and Mrs. Johnson greet Indira Gandhi in a late-morning ceremony at the White House.

Mrs. Gandhi, accompanied by her two young sons but no Cabinet ministers, begins a two-day state visit to Washington and a series of private talks she hopes will "serve the purpose of better understanding so that both the United States and India are strengthened in the common endeavor of promoting peace."

The prime minister outlined her views on the meeting Sunday shortly after an Air Force jet flew her and her small party from Paris to Williamsburg, Va.

The world sorely needs "a closer understanding of nations and the aspirations of their people," she said Sunday night in prepared statement. "I have come to the United States on such a quest."

"India's relations with the United States have been traditionally close and cordial, but friendship is something of which there can never be too much," she said.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Battel

Elusive Recipe
Dear Helen: In one of your "Unanswerable" columns, you asked if anyone knew a recipe for soda cake made with beer. Did you ever get one? — Recipe Collector.

Dear R. C.: Sorry — No. In eight years of tossing out questions to my wise and witty readers, this is the first time I ever drew a complete blank. If anyone has a recipe for soda cake made with beer she (or he) is a secret baker. — H.

Dear Helen: Several weeks ago someone asked if cosmetic companies would pay money for long nails. I have heard the rumor, which varied from $5 to $50 for one or two-inch long fingernails. Well, here's the scoop. My cousin grew a one-inch long finger nail and sent it to the cosmetic company which the rumors all mentioned. They replied with a note which said the rumor was untrue and they did not know how it got started. — M.C.

Dear M.C.: Thanks for nailing down a rumor which has probably had cosmetic companies bit when actions speak louder than words. — H.

The Kissing Kind
Dear Helen: Must everybody kiss everybody? We went to a cocktail party with friends last night and the people who invited us busily kissed (or anyway non-kissed) everybody in sight but they explained later they didn't introduce us because they had forgotten many of the names.

I don't want to seem naive or unsophisticated, so please will you tell me when I'm supposed to kiss people I don't know all that well? — Beginner

Dear Beginner: Kissing — social kissing, that is — is like flirting: If it doesn't come naturally you'd better let the other person take the initiative. A happy handshake is much better than an embarrassed buss. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address: Helen Battel in care of Hope Star.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Suing Uncle Sam

Camping out in Yellowstone National Park, a man was attacked during the night by a rambunctious black bear.

Later he sued the federal government for damages, blaming Park Rangers for not warning him of an outbreak of similar attacks in the area.

Until recent years such a claim would have been tossed out of court. Even if the government's employees had been guilty of negligence, a lawsuit was blocked by the ancient doctrine that "the King (that is, the government) can do no wrong." A victim's only hope then was to be compensated by a special act of Congress.

But in 1946, Congress passed the Federal Tort Claims Act, opening the door for the first time to suits of this kind. The bear-bitten camper in the case above, suing under the Act, did win substantial damages for his injuries.

By and large, the Tort Claims Act is limited to cases of negligence. Thus it does not let you collect for various intentional wrongs by government employees, such as assault and battery or false imprisonment.

Nor does it extend to injuries caused by decisions made at the higher levels of government, such as a decision to conduct nuclear tests in Nevada.

Neither are you entitled to payment merely because your injury happened to occur on government property. You must also have a legitimate cause for complaint. For example, a sightseer who slipped and fell in a corridor of the Capitol building was denied damages from the government, because there simply wasn't anything wrong with the floor.

It is in the ordinary negligence situations that you now have a right to sue Uncle Sam. To illustrate: A motorist won damages from the government after his car was struck by a careless FBI agent.

A woman won damages from the government after she lost her footing and was injured on a slippery ramp at a Veterans' Hospital.

And a woman won damages from the government after a faulty window at the local post office came crashing down on her fingers.

In other words, nowadays the "King" not only can do wrong but also can be made to pay for it.

Royals Give Celtics Another Cage Setback

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Home, sweet home — not in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"The home-court edge doesn't mean as much in the playoffs," Coach Jack McMahon said Sunday after his Cincinnati Royals beat the Celtics for the second straight time in Boston, 113-107, and took a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five Eastern Division semifinal. Boston won its game 132-125 Saturday night at Cincinnati.

"I hope that's now a new jinx," center Zelmo Beaty of St. Louis said after the Hawks took a 2-0 lead over Baltimore Sunday in the Western Division semifinal by beating the Bullets for the second straight time in Baltimore, 105-100. The teams shift to St. Louis for the third.

For a while, it looked like the Celtics might chalk one up for home lovers as they took a 94-88 lead with seven minutes remaining.

But the Royals fought back to go ahead 105-101. Then after Sam Jones tied it on a pair of field goals, Happy Hairston came off the bench with 51 seconds left to make six free throws and Oscar Robertson added a pair to give Cincinnati the victory.

Robertson and Jerry Lucas paced Cincinnati with 27 points each, and Hairston added 21. Boston got 36 points from John Havlicek.

Jesse Branch Asst. Coach at M. State

STARKVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Jesse Branch, a former all-Southwest Conference halfback at Arkansas, has been named an assistant coach on Paul Davis' Mississippi State football coaching staff.

The appointment was announced today by Athletic Director Wade Walker.

Branch, 25, has served as a graduate assistant on Coach Frank Broyles' Arkansas Razorback staff for the past two seasons. Before returning to Arkansas, Branch played professional football in the Canadian League with the Calgary Stampeders.

Branch was named to the all-Southwest Conference team in 1962, his senior year.

He is the third new member of the Mississippi States at. Previously named were Bo Ford of Kentucky as assistant head coach and John Shilton of Virginia Tech, in charge of offense.

Davis said "Branch comes to us highly recommended and we are indeed happy to have him joining our staff. I am sure he will do an excellent job."

A native of Pine Bluff, Ark., Branch reports to work immediately.

USC Going for More Swim Honors

By KEN ROBISON

Associated Press Sports Writer
AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—The University of Southern California, conqueror of Indiana in the NCAA swimming and diving championships, will seek more honors next week in the National AAU Championships at Brandon, Fla.

There the Trojans will encounter the "missing team" of the NCAA meet, Yale. The Ivy League, led by Don Schollander, did not compete because of a dispute over the NCAA's 1.6 minimum grade average rule for athletes.

Schollander, winner of four gold medals in the last Olympics, has been bothered by illness. But Southern California Coach Peter Daland expects Yale to be tough.

"They are always strong," he said. "And they will be fresh."

Southern California, led by brilliant freestyler Roy Saari, won the NCAA team championship for the fourth consecutive year with 302 points.

Indiana was second for the third straight year with 286 points. Michigan had 253 for third, Michigan State 173, Southern Methodist 143, Stanford 115, North Carolina State and UCLA 89 each and Ohio State 80.

Saari won the 1,650-yard freestyle Saturday by a fraction of a second over Utah's Mike Garibaldi. It completed a sweep of the 200-, 500- and 1,650-yard freestyle races and marked the third year he has won all three.

Saari's nine NCAA championships matched the all-time record performance of Washington's Jack Medica in 1934, 1935 and 1936.

Doug Sanders Going After Bigger Money

By F. T. MACFEEL Y
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Winning $13,500 first prizes in golf tournaments is pleasant, but there's bigger money to be made and Doug Sanders is after it.

His immediate goal is winning the Master at Augusta April 7-10.

"I'm seriously going to try to win one of the four major tournaments this year," he said after pocketing first money in the $82,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Sunday.

His manager, Mike McCormick of Cleveland — who also handles business for Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and a few other big name golfers — told Sanders he could make a great deal more from endorsements if he could win one of the big ones.

This year he won the Bob Hope Desert Classic before taking the Greater Jacksonville Open with a record 273. It beat the 285 mark set by Bert Weaver a year ago when the event was first played at the 6,906-yard par in 72 Selva Marina course — in wind and rain.

In addition to his two victories, Sanders might have had a third except for the new-famous incident of the unsigned scorecard at Pensacola three weeks ago, when Sanders was 14 under par and four strokes ahead of Gay Brewer Jr., but was disqualified.

Sanders said he thought of that occasion as he walked down the 18th fairway Sunday toward the ball he had just knocked into a sand trap flanking the right side of the green.

Brewer had birdied the last two holes for 274. Sanders knew he needed a birdie to win. His 14 ft. shot from the trap was 14 ft. short of the hole, but he sank the putt and collected $13,500 while Brewer had to settle for $7,200.

Gary Player finished third with 277 for third and $5,200. Tommy Bolt and Frank Beard tied for fourth at 278 and won $4,200 each. Weaver was six strokes better than a year ago but his 279 was good only for sixth place along with Tony Lema and $3,250.

Time Seems Running Out on Hawks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Time and the Montreal Canadiens are running out on Chicago's frustrated Black Hawks.

The Hawks, only National Hockey League club which has never won the regular season title, fell four points behind in their stretch race with league-leading Montreal Sunday night when they were tied 1-1 by the Detroit Red Wings.

The Canadiens, meanwhile, rolled to a 3-1 victory over Boston that shot them within range of their seventh NHL pennant in the last 10 years. Montreal and Chicago each have three games remaining, including a head-to-head meeting Saturday night on the Canadiens' ice.

On Sunday night's other game Rangers 5-1 and climbed within three points of the second-place Black Hawks.

Tresh in Yank Victory, Mets Shade Indians

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
With all his other anticipated troubles, New York Yankee Manager Johnny Keane wasn't exactly in the market for one more. So Tommy Tresh set his mind a tease.

Tresh was one of the few Yankees who got through 1965 intact — both physically and artistically. In the year the Yankees finished sixth, Tresh led the club in almost every offensive department from batting (.276) to home runs (26).

So, in what must be considered a rebuilding year, Tresh figured to be one of the few players about whom Keane wouldn't have to worry. Until Sunday though, the young outfielder had been causing some furrowed brows around the Yankees' Fort Lauderdale, Fla., training camp.

Tresh had been struggling along at a .182 pace with just three runs batted in in 12 games. He was retired in his first three swings against Cincinnati Sunday.

Then in the eighth inning, with New York trailing 2-1, Tresh whacked his first home run. That one came from the right side against lefty Bill Henry. An inning later, right-handed Dom Zanni was serving when Tresh, batting lefty, walloped his second homer, a grand slammer, giving New York a 5-2 lead. The Yankees went on to win 7-6 in 15 innings.

The Yankee game was one of three that went extra innings. In the others, the New York Mets shaded Philadelphia 5-4 in 12 innings and California outlasted Cleveland 11-8 in 11 innings.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox won their ninth straight, trimming Detroit 7-1, Pittsburgh edged Baltimore 4-3, Washington defeated Kansas City 5-1, St. Louis downed Houston 4-3, Boston whipped Minnesota 5-1, the Chicago Cubs dropped San Francisco 4-3 and Atlanta defeated Los Angeles 4-2.

Tresh was the hero until the Reds jarred Bill Stafford for four runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the Yankees. The two clubs then battled into the 15th when singles by Elston Howard, Horace Clarke and Cleto Boyer produced the winning run.

Choo Choo Coleman drove in the Mets' winning run with a single after Cleon Jones had walked and Ron Swoboda had singled. John Herrnstein sent the game into extra innings with a two-out homer in the ninth. Al Luplow homered for New York.

Cleveland and California committed a total of nine errors between them with the Angels making six. Jose Cardenal delivered a pinch triple in California's four-run 11th that broke a 7-7 tie.

3-Year-Olds in Spotlight at Oaklawn

The 3-year-olds take over the spotlight in thoroughbred racing this week with the $100,000 Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park and the $50,000 Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park.

Buckpasser, the 2-year-old champion of 1965 and the early favorite, has been declared out of the Florida Derby because of a quarter-crack in a right hoof. Nevertheless, the Saturday race at 1 1/4 miles is expected to produce some good prospects for the Kentucky Derby in May.

Mike Ford's Kauai King looms the likely favorite off his impressive victory in the Fountain of Youth Stakes last Wednesday.

Impressive, who may become Ogden Phipps' Kentucky Derby hope if Buckpasser fails to respond to treatment, was beaten by Quinta, $10.60, in the Bay Shore Stakes at Aqueduct last Saturday.

Impressive had beaten Quinta by seven lengths in the Swifton March 14 when each carried 126 pounds. There was a 14-pound shift for the Bay Shore with Impressive lugging 128 to Quinta's 114.

First Family, who moves up 10 lengths on an off track, according to trainer Casey Hayes, slashed through a blinding rain storm to win the $114,200 Gulfstream Park Handicap by 1 1/2 lengths over Selari. First Family paid $26.80.

Minister's Son Purge Casualty

Reliable sources said the younger Roa, 29, has lost his job in the Foreign Trade Ministry and is expected to be drafted, possibly for a farm labor brigade. His father was not involved.

Since Castro announced the purge 10 days ago, dozens of Cuban officials have been arrested for high living, heavy earth rest for high living, heavy drinking or other "illegal and immoral activities" considered unbecoming to a revolutionary.

Miners Surprised Everyone But Themselves.

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—(NEA)—Defensive perfection was such a major part of Hank Iba's game at Oklahoma State that one evening after his team had given up three baskets on the fast break, the coach decided his players needed a chalk talk to review fundamentals.

One of those players was a fellow named Don Haskins, and quite frankly, Haskins was too tired to listen after that particular game.

"So," Haskins said, "I dozed off during the chalk talk and the next thing I know, I get hit with an eraser right between the eyes."

"I hope I didn't miss too much because if we're ever going to win this tournament, we better know how to stop the fast break."

Haskins is the coach at Texas Western, and he told the story the day before his team stopped Kentucky (72-65) and its highly regarded fast break to win the 1965-66 National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball championship.

Defense won for Texas Western, a calm, poised and supremely confident team that finished the season with a 28-1 record.

After beating Utah, 85-78, in the semifinal game, Haskins was extremely upset with his team's defensive performance.

"We haven't had a good defensive game the last seven or eight times we've played," Haskins said, "but... we've been getting away with it."

"We've been going so well offensively lately that maybe we've been relaxing on defense."

Somehow, in the 24 hours between the semifinal and championship games, Texas Western rediscovered its defense.

"I gave it to them after the Utah game," the 35-year-old Haskins said. "I guarantee I wasn't too complimentary to them. You would never be able to write what I said."

Padwe

From the beginning, Texas Western, which seemed to be the slight favorite among the coaches present, pressured the Wildcats every time they handled the ball.

"Their overplays were exceptional," said West Virginia coach Buckey Waters, "and the pressure they exerted on such a fine ball-handling team was amazing. They forced Kentucky into a poor shooting night (38 per cent), and they did it without getting in foul trouble."

"I think Willie Cager turned in the key job on Pat Riley, especially in the second half."

While the defense was unrelenting in its pressure, a 5-10 guard, Bobby Hill, was leading Texas Western's offense with 20 points. He also contributed some key steals which turned into important baskets.

"Hill caused Kentucky's zone tremendous problems," Waters said. "They were splitting it perfectly with drives instead of relying on the outside shot."

Oddly, after the game, Texas Western was exceptionally subdued for a team that had just won the national championship.

Hill had the perfect summation:

"We surprised everyone else more than we surprised ourselves."

"You know it hurts a little when not too many people give you a chance. And that's the way it seemed after the Utah game."

Texas Western has an exceptional basketball team whose key members were recruited from the metropolitan areas of the East, Midwest and Southwest.

It is basically a seven-man team, and it is so well-balanced that Hill, the leading scorer, averaged just 14.7 points per game.

Hill is a junior from Detroit and plays the backcourt with soph Willie Worsley of New York and senior Orstein Artis of Gary, Ind. The strongest starter is 6-6, 240-pound David Lattin of Houston, Tex., who is only a sophomore. But senior Harry Flournoy (6-5), another import from Gary, Ind., beat Lattin for the team rebounding leadership.

Cager, who didn't play high school ball in New York because he worked to help his family, is only a sophomore. Nevil Shed, a 6-8 junior, is the other New Yorker.

"When we were in high school," Worsley said, "the three of us played together in games up at P.S. 120 in the Bronx. I went to a different school but Cager and Shed went to the same one."

The togetherness seems to have helped because in the championship game against the Wildcats it was a tremendously synchronized effort that eventually won for the Miners.

Over on the Kentucky side, it was a grim scene. There were tears. There was silence. This was a team, like Texas Western, which was expected to be watching the finals on television.

It was a team with no starter taller than 6-5 which depended on discipline and aggressiveness all year.

It also was a team which depended on a 64-year-old man named Adolph Rupp who was trying for his fifth national championship. They will tell stories and write books about this man long after he retires—stories about his vanity, his unwavering discipline, and the way it all faded this year with this team.

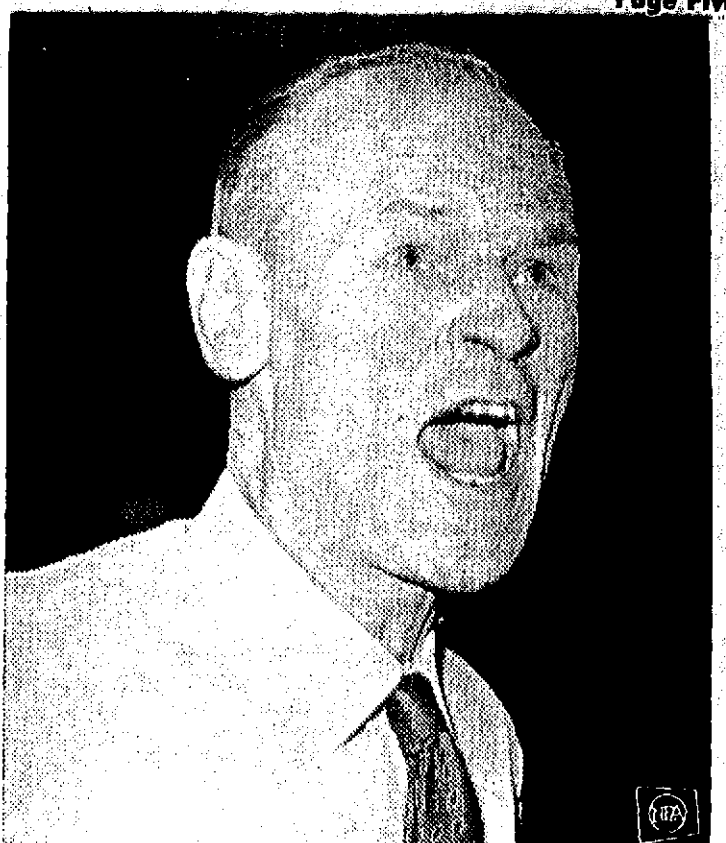

Some believe this may have been Rupp's finest coaching job in 36 years at Kentucky because his team shouldn't have gone as far as it did.

It did it, though, on old-fashioned basketball and it lost because a stronger team played good, old-fashioned, man-to-man defense.

And when it was over there was a 64-year-old man with a wilted shirt collar and a crumpled brown suit, who suddenly looked very, very tired.

When the inevitable question about retirement came up, the smile flashed for a second, and it was a scene that comes straight from Edwin O'Connor.

"I always," said Rupp, "look forward to coming back next year."

JOE LAPCHICK

"You gotta come back, Joe"

Joe Lapchick—Coach to Critic

By DAVE BURGIN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The basketball season is over for just about everybody but Joe Lapchick and the professional teams in the playoffs.

Then, when the pros are finished, Lapchick's season will have still another two months to run.

A year ago Lapchick, 66, retired as head coach at St. John's University, ending a career in basketball that spanned 50 years. Or so he thought.

"I figured I was retiring to the periphery of basketball," Lapchick said. "Instead I found there are two basketball worlds—one for those who are active and one for ex-actives who love the game so much they just can't give it up."

"Oh, the pressure of coaching is gone," he went on, "but now my season is actually longer. That's O.K. though. I'm having a great time."

Now Lapchick begins a heavy schedule of speaking engagements at postseason clinics and high school and college banquets, honoring letter winners, most valuable and what-not.

Lapchick "retired" only from coaching. He still works—as an athletic adviser and public relations man, of sorts, for a shoe company. Invitations to speak, he said, have tripled and he accepts as many as he can.

"I've also become something of a critic, partly by choice and partly because people ask me to," he said.

"And I found myself going to more games this past season than I ever thought I would. Mostly I get the biggest kick out of watching other coaches to see if they do what I would do."

"What I miss most is the challenge of building a rapport with kids. I miss looking into their faces when they know they've pleased me. I even miss chewing them out. It took me years to learn how to chew a kid out and get results."

Lapchick likes to talk about his "adopted children"—young coaches who come to him for advice.

One is Bob Knight, the 25-year-old Army coach, who called on Lapchick early in the season. Since then Knight has phoned or visited every week.

"I've had to chew Bobby out a couple of times," Lapchick said. "I see in him so much of what I was as a young coach. He cares about the game. There's a lot more to coaching than Xs and Os, you know."

During his first year in 50 "out" of the game, Lapchick received several coaching offers. "I even had one pro offer and two major college offers," he said. "They tell me, 'you've just gotta come back, Joe.'"

"But I won't ever coach again. For one thing, I have a heart condition, which is why I retired when I did."

Lapchick never went to college. He became a barnstorming pro player when he was 16. At 6-5, in those days, he was a goon. Later he starred with the Original Celtics. Twice he coached St. John's, for a total of 20 years, with a nine-year coaching tenure with the New York Knicks in between.

"After I retired," he said, "I felt sad because I thought the end of basketball was the end of everything. I found out differently this year. I guess I'll always be around basketball."

FORM CHARTS

Minnesota Twins

PITCHING—Johnny Sain used some Arkansas mountain magic last season and transformed Jim Grant into a 20-game winner. Just as surprising, a couple of old National Leaguers, Al Worthington and Johnny Klippstein, became a formidable bullpen duo, ably assisted by Bill Pleis. Jim Perry was another surprise with a 12-7 record. Dave Boswell finished 6-4 and Jim Merritt 5-4. The Twins needed every game because their top pitcher for so many years, Camilo Pascual, had an arm injury and was just 9-3. Jim Kaat, Pascual's left-hand counterpart finished at 18-11. Well, everyone is back and there are other possibilities like Dick Stigman and rookies Pete Cimino and Chuck Nieson. RATING—B+.

INFIELD—Don Mincher finally got his chance at first base and won a job which he has no plans to relinquish. Big Don had 22 home runs and 65 RBI last season. At second it will probably be Frank Quilley who is an excellent fielder, but a light hitter, or Richie Rollins. Zoilo Versalles, the American League MVP, is the shortstop. He hit .273 with 19 home runs and 77 RBI last season after mending his differences with manager Sam Mele. Harmon Killebrew, he of the black-smith arms, is at third base. Killebrew missed part of the season in 1965 with a dislocated shoulder, but he still hit 25 home runs. RATING—B+.

OUTFIELD—Tony Oliva has won the American League batting title two straight seasons. He is set in right field. In center, it's Jim Hall who had 20 home runs and 86 RBI last season. Bob Allison will be in left. However, he may be platooned with Sandy Valdespino. RATING—A-.

CATCHER—Earl Batley had another good season in 65, hitting .297. Jerry Zimmerman is his replacement, but the Twins are looking for a harder-hitting substitute. RATING—B.

BENCH—Valdespino is a good little outfielder who hits well. Jerry Kindall and Bernie Allen are the spare infielders. Joe Nosske will be pushed by three rookie outfielders who all hit well in the Pacific Coast League with Denver—Ted Uhlaender (.340), Cesar Tovar (.328) and Andy Kosco (.327). RATING—B.

IOWA CITY, Iowa—(NEA)—Shirley Nagel is devoted... she is understanding... and she cooks extremely well.

Whether or not her cooking becomes a subject for investigation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association won't be known until November of 1967 when the University of Iowa finishes its football season.

Padwe

Shirley's husband, Ray, is Iowa's new head football coach. His job is not an easy one because last year the Hawkeyes finished with a 1-9 record.

This means Ray Nagel has spent most of his time recruiting since his arrival in Iowa City last December from the University of Utah.

And Shirley is helping. On a recent Saturday, the phone rang at 10:30 a.m. in the Nagel household, with the caller asking for the coach.

"Oh, you just missed him," Mrs. Nagel said. "We just had four boys over for breakfast and Ray took them for a drive around the campus."

"But you should be able to get him here at about 12:30. He will be back then for sure because I'm making lunch for four other boys."

It was a busy day for Mrs. Nagel considering that she has five of her own children to feed.

"We have pretty big food bills," Ray said, smiling.

"...big food bills"

Ray Nagel smiles a lot. He is an extremely personable man. And extremely persuasive, which is one of the main reasons the University of Iowa hired him.

"We realized," said athletic director Forest Evashevski, "that we needed a 'salesman' type of coach—a strong leader who could rally the state and who could talk convincingly to young men and could well represent the University of Iowa both academically and athletically."

Ray Nagel is suited for both. Academically, he holds a law degree from UCLA. Athletically, he was a pro quarterback with the Chicago

Cardinals, coached under Red Sanders at UCLA and Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma before succeeding Jack Curtice as head coach at Utah in 1958.

When Nagel replaced Curtice, he was 31, the youngest head football coach at a major university.

It was the coaching experience under Wilkinson that helped Nagel choose between football and law.

"Until that time," Nagel said, "football was thrilling, exciting, but temporary. When I got to Oklahoma, though, I realized this is what I wanted to do.

"I haven't had much legal experience except for handling some little scrapes for friends."

If the NCAA gets suspicious of Iowa's record in a few years, and if they start checking Mrs. Nagel's grocery bills, Ray's legal experience may prove quite handy as he tries to explain things to Walter Byers.

When a cow grazes, it can't bite off the grass, but must pull or tear it by moving its head.

GOODBY AGAIN—For the third time in the last 20 years, jockey Johnny Longden, 59, announced his retirement from racing. Longden rode 6,024 winners, more than any other jockey, in his 40-year racing career.

THE WELL CHILD

Much Work Being Done To Aid Leukemia Victims

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A mother whose 3-year-old son has leukemia wants to know what is the best treatment for this disease. The outlook for this child would depend in part on which of the 13 forms of the disease he has. Although no sure cure has been discovered, much promising work is being done. Some victims with lymphocytic leukemia have responded well to chlorambucil, a derivative of nitrogen mustard. In children with this type of leukemia, however, the best results have been with a combination of prednisone, a cortisone-like drug, and vincristine, which is a derivative of the periwinkle. After a remission has been obtained with the use of this combination, it is wise to switch to methotrexate. Other drugs that are especially valuable in bringing about a remission in children are mercaptopurine and cyclophosphamide. For myelocytic leukemia, busulfan has been found to be better than mercaptopurine by one group of observers and another group got good results by keeping leukemic patients under a plastic hood (similar to an oxygen tent) for several days and having them inhale nitrous oxide (laughing gas).

Transfusions of marrow cells, previously taken from the victim and stored at a freezing temperature or marrow cells from a donor carefully selected by cross-matching, as is done in blood transfusions, have also been used experimentally with good results. Another research group has hit upon an ingenious form of treatment. We know that X rays will kill the diseased white blood cells in a leukemic patient but irradiation of the whole body is harmful to the victim's normal tissues. The doctors, therefore, brought the patient's blood out of his body through a silastic-Teflon tube and back into his body again. No special pump is needed as the patient's heart can pump the blood through the tube. As the blood flows through the tube it is treated with X rays and the leukemic cells are killed.

Q—Would it be advisable to take my 3-month-old baby to see my great aunt who is 85 and lives near us? The aunt is in excellent health.

A—I can see no objection to taking your baby on such a visit but would not advise it for a younger child. I am, however, violently opposed to allowing any adults, or children for that matter, to kiss the baby except on the back of the neck or to hold him close to their faces.

Television and Radio

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The distance between "Batman" and Beethoven is, by any measure, vast. But ABC bridged it neatly Wednesday night in an awesome demonstration of television's versatility and change of pace. Taking last things first, there was a study of the great German composer's lonely, almost secret, struggle against deafness, done by great sensitivity, visual beauty and glorious sound.

Called "Beethoven: Ordeal and Triumph," the program was part of the network's "Saga of Western Man" series but was less a reflection on a society than a story of a man's victory over a terrible personal affliction. The tale was told by using TV's now familiar biographical and documentary technique - filming actual sites and relics of the subject's life and circumstances while narration by an unseen speaker goes on. The time it was used with great skill.

The color photograph was especially beautiful. Beethoven's soaring music, played by the Boston Symphony and pianist Claude Frank, was sometimes an almost inaudible background to the words and then swelled and roared. When the story reached the point where the young musician, at the peak of his talents, was losing his hearing, the experience was shared by the viewer. The voice of David McCallum, reading Beethoven's words, rose almost to a scream of agony. It was valid and very moving.

Mail Costs Will Go Up March 26

Increases in money orders, insurance, registry, certified mail and C. O. D. rates will become effective March 26, 1966, Postmaster Arthur I. Jennings said Wednesday.

The cost of operating these five special services now exceeds revenues by $60 million annually. The fee increases will narrow the cost-revenue gap by $36 million, based on business handled in Fiscal Year 1965.

Fees for money orders, registry and C. O. D. were last changed in 1961; insurance and certified mail by 1957.

The fee changes, announced in the January 11th Federal Register and confirmed in the register on February 25th, are put into effect under the existing administrative authority of the Postmaster General.

The increases include: Money Order Fees: Domestic and international money order fees will be increased by 5 cents.

Insurance Fees: The minimum fee bracket will be increased from $10 to $15 and the minimum fee will be 20 cents instead of 10 cents. The revised insurance fees will be as follows: $0.01 to $15, 20 cents; $15.01 to $50, 30 cents; $50.01 to $100, 40 cents; $100.01 to $150, 50 cents; and $150.01 to $200, 60 cents.

Registry Fees: The present 60 cents and 75 cents fees will be combined into a single fee at 75 cents for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles valued in excess of $100 will remain unchanged.

C. O. D. Fees: The present 40 cents and 50 cents fee brackets will be combined into one fee bracket at 60 cents for amounts up to $10. There will be no change in the fees covering items valued above $10.

Weir Finally Released

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—James Weir, who was taken into custody so U.S. marshals could remove personal property from Weir's former Chiclo County farm, was released from Pulaski County Jail Wednesday night.

Federal Judge J. Smith Henley ordered Weir taken into custody Monday, and he released him after the property had been removed.

Weir lost his farm for failing to pay penalties for overplanting rice acreage allotments.

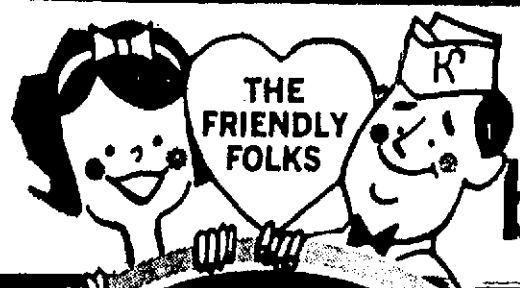

The marshals took farm equipment and tools to another farm, and took furniture and other items to a storage warehouse in McGehee.

Gentleman Tramp P.O. Box Improved Big Paper-Users

Another sign of Spring: That white dog who set up light housekeeping on a bale of hay in my garage during zero weather in January — well, he's not around any more.

When things were tough he'd show up every night for bed and a can of dog meat. But now that it's not so bad sleeping out he turns up missing.

A nice white setter. . . looked like a gentleman. . . but just a tramp at heart. . . aren't we all?

Several weeks ago we aired a beef about the curbside mailbox at the new Hope Federal Building and Post Office. It was, we said, too high, set back too far, and awkward to use.

Well they've improved it — lowered the box and moved it closer to your car.

Somebody's listening — and thanks.

The public measures newspapers by their stated circulations, but in the newspaper business itself there is another yardstick — how much newsprint a publication uses in a year. One paper may have the larger circulation, due to its city's larger population, but a paper in a city not quite so big may use more newsprint because it runs more pages.

The largest daily circulation in America belongs to the tabloid New York News. Behind it in circulation is the standard-size Los Angeles Times — but the Times uses more newsprint than any daily on the North American continent, 286-172 tons of white paper in 1965, according to the Newsprint Information Committee.

Second in tonnage is the New York News with 263,014, with the standard-size New York Times third at 229,836.

The Star's figures are microscopic by comparison — but this is Hope, not New York or Los Angeles. Our annual allowable from the mill is 90 tons, and currently we are running at the rate of 84.

More Lights Seen in Two Other States

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's weird, blinking lights apparently have extended their appearances into Ohio and Wisconsin.

The reports of sightings, limited for nearly two weeks to southern Michigan, came from some 100 miles north in Michigan's "thumb" district, across Lake Michigan at Green Bay, Wis., and south near Toledo and Dayton, Ohio.

As before, there was no full explanation.

So far, the only authoritative analysis has been the swamp-gas theory advanced Friday by a Northwestern University astrophysicist concerning two lightnings in southern Michigan.

The scientist, Dr. J. Allen Hynek, who also is an Air Force special consultant, has gotten arguments from those who reported seeing the mysterious flying objects.

Ohio highway patrolman R. D. Landersicht said Sunday he saw a strange light approaching Wright Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton. He reportedly photographed the lights and the Air Force develops the films today.

Wright Patterson is the home of the National Unidentified Aerial Phenomena Office, called Project Blue Book.

Teacher Salary Ranks at Bottom

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The annual teacher salary in Arkansas is placed by the National Education Association at $4,740 — 47th in the nation and above only Mississippi, South Dakota and South Carolina.

Arkansas was ranked first in the percentage of increase in teacher salaries in the last 10 years, however — 107.1 per cent.

The association placed Arkansas 45th in public school revenue for each pupil in average daily attendance, $418 per pupil. It said in its annual report that the national average is $630 per pupil.

Arkansas was ranked second in the percentage of public school money coming from the federal government — 20 per cent compared to the national average of 7.8 per cent.

N. Viet Nam Qualifies Under New SS Law Represented in Moscow Meet

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials attach great importance to the fact that North Viet Nam is being represented at this week's Soviet Communist party meeting by one of the chief policymakers under President Ho Chi Minh.

The mission to Moscow of the North Vietnamese Communists leader, Le Duan, could have a significant bearing on the future course of the war in Viet Nam.

Some European Communist diplomats say privately they believe Soviet authorities will make an effort to persuade the North Vietnamese delegation to give serious consideration to peace moves.

The Eastern European diplomats speculate that with the massive buildup of American power in Southeast Asia the North Vietnamese must be compelled sooner or later to face the fact that the conflict is going against them and the hopes they had for victory a year ago are fading rapidly.

The Soviet government was co-chairman with Britain of the 1954 Geneva Conference and a willingness on its part to join Britain in reconvening the conference would be a major step toward negotiations. The Soviets, however, are obviously unwilling to act without North Viet Nam's agreement and willingness to participate.

The Viet Nam situation drew fresh comment over the weekend from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford.

Humphrey was quoted Sunday night in a Newsweek magazine interview as saying, "We must not only accept the results of free elections — including any winning Communist candidacies" in South Viet Nam, "we must also make crystal clear — perhaps clearer than we have done to date — our total acceptance of the principles of true independence and nonalignment. . . . We want no permanent enclaves or bases. . . . We seek — in the simplest language — a state of honorable peace."

Asked for his views on Communist China, Humphrey said: "We must see beyond the test of arms and apply to China the principle we learned in confronting the Soviet Union. We strive to contain but not to isolate. We do not try to impose quarantine from without. We do not try to overturn power from within. We do not harass or provoke. . . ."

"If Communist China wishes isolation, it will have to forge its own."

Mrs. Gandhi, arriving today for White House talks with President Johnson, disputed some published reports that there was a "community of views" between France and India on Viet Nam.

Clears Way for Bid for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Associate Justice Jim Johnson of the Arkansas Supreme Court has cleared the path for a possible gubernatorial bid.

Johnson announced at a news conference Saturday that he would resign from the high court effective April 4.

His letter of resignation to Gov. Orval Faubus said he was resigning in compliance with Act 5 of 1959. The act prohibits members of the judiciary from running for another office while on the bench.

Johnson dodged all questions during the news conference, reading only his brief letter of resignation.

He hinted in December that he was considering becoming a candidate for governor, but said at that time that he would make a decision within 90 days.

Johnson, a former lawyer from Crossett, was runner-up to Faubus in the 1956 Democratic gubernatorial primary when Johnson ran on a strong segregationist platform.

Johnson, whose Supreme Court term would expire at the end of this year, was an unsuccessful candidate for attorney general in 1964.

He was elected to the high court in 1958 when he beat Associate Justice Minor W. Millican by 2,307 votes.

The text of Johnson's letter of resignation:

"With a heart full of gratitude to my Lord who has so blessed me; to my family that stands by me; to my colleagues that have been so patient with me; to the people of Arkansas that have so honored me by permitting me to be one of seven men in whom they have entrusted the safety of their constitution, laws, lives and property; and in compliance with Act 5 of 1959, and in fairness to those who may aspire to the position I now hold, I tender this, my resignation, from the office of associate justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court, to become effective Monday, April 4, 1968."

Bombers and Marines Hit Enemy Lines

By THOMAS A. REEDY
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52s poured 100,000 rounds of explosives on thick mangrove swamps 18 miles southeast of Saigon today only a mile or so ahead of American Marines sweeping the river approaches to the capital.

A huge orange fire ball and thick black smoke curled from the swamps after the eight-engine bombers unloaded their 750-pound bombs. An Air Force spokesman said a Communist jungle mine factory hidden among mangroves 40 feet high apparently had been obliterated.

He described the strike as "the most awesome and devastating I ever have seen."

While the blasts from the bombardment echoed across Saigon, two other waves of B52s from Guam unloaded their massive bomb loads on Tay Ninh Province, an old Viet Cong stronghold and reputed jungle headquarters of the National Liberation Front. The bombers attacked sectors five miles apart near the Cambodian border about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

During the routine processing of Mrs. Hutchens' claim, Field Representative Edward Corona, who services the Hope area discovered that Mrs. Hutchens could qualify for monthly social security payments in addition to health insurance under Medicare.

This was made possible by a recent change in the law under which certain persons over age 72 need less work under social security in order to qualify for monthly benefits.

"In this case," Corona said, "it was because Mrs. Hutchens had paid social security tax on self-employment income in 1958. As soon as I discovered she had enough coverage to draw monthly benefits, I went to see her to get some additional information on her case. She was very happy when I told her that she would be able to draw monthly benefits retroactive to September 1965," Corona concluded.

Mrs. Hutchens was born in Glenwood, Ark., and moved to Hope in 1910. She has lived in Hope ever since. She has lived at her present address since 1939. Her husband was the late W. F. Hutchens. Mr. Hutchens died in 1936 leaving Mrs. Hutchens with three children to raise.

Mrs. Hutchens operated a boarding house for some years and then at age 51 she enrolled in nursing training at St. Michael Hospital in Texarkana. She took enough training to qualify her to become a practical nurse and she got her license in June, 1947. Shortly thereafter, she returned to Hope where she worked as a practical nurse until her health failed about five years ago.

She counts among her friends and former patients, many people in the Hope area.

After retiring from nursing, Mrs. Hutchens supplemented her income by renting out rooms in her home. It was through this method that she acquired social security coverage.

Mrs. Hutchens recommends that all of her friends over age 65 who have not filed for Medicare contact a representative of the Social Security Administration and have the program explained to them.

Medicare is available to most people who are age 65 or older. The deadline for filing for the supplemental plan under Medicare is March 31, 1968. Anyone who is eligible and has not filed an application for the supplemental plan is urged to do so at once.

Social Security records are all confidential. Mrs. Hutchens gave her permission for all information used in this story to be released for public information.

Rules GOP Has Right to Check Bank Deposits

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled in a 6-1 opinion today that the Republican Party has a right to examine records on deposit of idle state funds in banks.

Justice Ed McFaddin dissented from the majority opinion, saying that the right to examine records was limited to persons having an interest therein.

The case was sent back to Pulaski Chancery Court with directions for the trial court to issue a writ of mandamus directing Treasurer Nancy Hall to open her books to the GOP.

The writ probably will not be necessary. Mrs. Hall has said she would abide by the decision of the Supreme Court.

Justice Jim Johnson wrote the majority opinion. He said the Supreme Court was startled that it had to be asked whether public records were open for public inspection. He quoted from a recent ruling of the Arkansas Supreme Court, which said:

"The denial to the public of reasonable access to public records by public officials is not conducive to the perpetuation of our form of government."

Concluding his opinion, Johnson said, "If there be any rule of the English common law that denies the public right of access to public records, it is repugnant to the spirit of our democratic institutions. Regard popular opinion as the people rule—the motto of Arkansas. It should every remain inviolate."

Johnson noted that Mrs. Hall denied access to the records on advice of Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

McFaddin in the dissenting opinion objected that the majority opinion was too broad and that the case was moot because the 1965 legislature, in setting up a system for investment of idle state funds, declared by statute that the records shall be open to the public.

The Republicans, through Dr. Wayne Babbitt, state vice chairman of the party, were seeking to look at records from 1963, when state funds were simply deposited in banks without drawing interest.

In discussing his view that a private individual had to have an interest in public records before he could demand to see them, McFaddin wrote:

"Answers to the witness, Babbitt, show clearly that he was on a fishing expedition for curiosity; and, under the cases I have cited, such mere curiosity does not justify the issuance of a writ of mandamus."

Communists Open World Convention

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW
MOSCOW (AP) — Communist delegations from around the world made pilgrimages in the rain to Lenin's tomb today as Moscow prepared for the opening of the Soviet Communist party's 23rd Congress.

Delegations from more than 40 foreign countries and 5,000 Soviet delegates to the congress thronged the hotels, trudged through museums and went window-shopping.

More foreign delegations were arriving constantly. Only the Communist parties of Albania, New Zealand and Japan have joined the Chinese Communists in boycotting the meeting. Delegations have arrived from North Viet Nam and North Korea, which once sided with Peking in the dispute with Moscow but now take a more neutral position.

The congress, first since 1961, opens Tuesday in the modernist Kremlin Palace of Congresses in the Kremlin.

The chief scheduled business is adoption of directives for the Soviet Union's 1966-70 economic development plan. The unannounced business that is expected to attract the most attention will be comment by the party first secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev, on his predecessors, Joseph Stalin and Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Communist sources say Brezhnev will mention them both as historic figures that cannot be ignored by the party.
